Subject: RE: TEFRA signature block

See page 10 of the attached notice. You didn;t mention what form the TMP is signing.

State law determines who can sign for . The identity of any TMP's in the chain is irrelevant since the TMP is a creature of statute and the TMP statute does not give the TMP power to bind the entity in which it is the TMP. Only state law provides that authority.

So you will need to look at the operating agreement of to see who its manager under state law is. That won't necessarily be an owner.
